9:25am– 9:32am	Parent Question and Discussion 1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> As a member of the ESSA Task Force, I am constantly exposed to the data not only on our city, but on Ward 7. I also see how the data for black boys shows that they are consistently underperforming and under-resourced. I am a mother of 3 black boys, and I am terrified of what this means for my kids. How do you interpret the data on education in our city, and what is your plan for making sure all children have the resources they need to succeed? 	Yolanda Corbett, Inspired Teaching School and Children’s Guild Parent (Ward 7)
9:32am– 9:40am	Parent Question and Discussion 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> I am a proud native-Washingtonian and love raising my boys in the city I call home. I have seen the incredible effect Out of School Time programs have on our kids and families not just as a parent, but as a Family Engagement Coordinator at Carlos Rosario PCS. Yet, the few and costly programs that exist are inaccessible to so many families I work with and we as parent leaders believe no family should have to choose between paying for rent and food or paying for these programs to ensure their child is on track for success. Are you committed to working with the Council and the Mayor to invest $25 million in funding for Out of School Time programs? 	Elani Lawrence, Mundo Verde Parent (Ward 4)
9:40am – 9:45am	Closing and Group Photo	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Thank Councilmember White for having us and parents for attending and review next steps Ask Councilmember White how PAVE parents can continue to learn more about his priorities. 	Bisi
